BRYAN,

BOY ORATOR OF THE PLATTE.

Born in Illinois. Son of a Virginian.

Studied Law in Chicago.

Married and Moved to Nebraska.

Had a Brief Success as An Orator in Congress.

William Jennings Bryan was born in Salem, Marion county, Ill., on March 19, 1856, so that he just misses being ineligible for the presidency by reason of his youth. Thirty-five is the limit and nobody at his age was ever elected President of the United States. He comes of Virginia stock. His father was Silas L. Bryan, who was born Cuiper county, Va., at the foot of the Blue Ridge, and lived there until 18 years old, when he moved to Illinois, where he eventually became declined the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, but a year later he accepted the nomination to Congress from his district. The district was naturally 3,000 Republican. Bryan's district included not only Lincoln but Omaha, and there were seven other county towns within its borders. His opponent W. J. Conwell had been elected two years before by 3,400 majority. Bryan carried the district by 6,713.

Because of the honors thus gained he was made a member of the Ways and Means Committee in Congress, and in March 1892, he attracted a deal of attention as a speaker on the tariff. On July 4, 1892, Mr. Bryan made the first long talk at the Tammany Hall celebration of the day. He had come to make a short talk, but Wilson of West Virginia, who was seconded for the first place, fell sick. Bryan was well received.

When Bryan after his first term in Congress stood for re-election he worked as before but this time he succeeded by 140 majority in a total vote cast of about 30,000. It was during his second term that he became the open champion of free coinage of silver, and was made the chief lieutenant of Blaine. He was continued on the Ways and Means Committee is smooth-faced, well built, and when speaking, is of a form and presence to command attention. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church, of Lincoln and of the Y. M. C. A. His mother is a Baptist and his father a Presbyterian.

Arthur Sewall, of Maine.

The Vice-Presidential nominee is a man very nearly twice as old as the head of the ticket. He is much older than he looks. He is a splendid example of physical manhood, carries himself with a soldierly bearing and is what might be termed a fine-looking man. His hair and mustache are slightly tinged with gray, but the wrinkles of age have scarcely made their appearance on his face. He was born at Bath, Me., November 12, 1835. The estate on which he was born, and where he now resides, has been in the possession of the Sewall family since 1700. His grandfather fought in the war of the Revolution.

By occupation Mr. Sewall was originally a ship builder, and he is now largely interested in shipping, railway and banking. For nine years he was President of the Maine Central railway, from which position he retired two years ago. He is now President of a bank at Bath, is interested in the enough of a politician to be elected State Senator. When William was 15 years old he entered Whipple Academy at Jacksonville. In 1877 he entered Illinois College and graduated as valedictorian in 1881.

After graduation at Jacksonville Bryan went to Union Law College at Chicago, and at the same time entered the law office of Lyman Trainbit. After two years of work in the college and office he got his diploma and returned to Jacksonville where he began practice.

Within a year after making his home in Jacksonville Bryan was married to Miss Mary E. Baird, the only daughter of a merchant of Perry, a neighboring town. In 1887 he removed to Lincoln, Neb., and became a member of the law firm of Talbot & Bryan.

In 1888 he was a delegate to the Democratic State Convention held at Omaha, and while the Convention was waiting for a committee to report the young man recently from Illinois was asked to fill in the time by making a few remarks. He responded in a way that he was counted one of the orators of the party thereafter. As "The Boy Orator of the Platte" he is chiefly known to fame. In 1889 he and was the first it is said, to suggest the income tax clause in the Wilson Tariff bill. Mr. McMillin of Tennessee assisted in preparing the clause. At the end of his second term Bryan did not risk a third trial for the place. Instead he undertook editing the Omaha World-Herald a free silver organ.

Mr. Bryan lives well in a commodious dwelling in the fashionable part of Lincoln. His family consists of Mrs. Bryan; Ruth, aged 11; William J., Jr., aged 6, and Grace, aged 5. The study in which both Mr. and Mrs. Bryan have desks is a very attractive room. It is filled with books, stationary, and mementoes of campaigns. There are busts or portraits of noted men, and there are two butcher knives which Mr. Bryan used in the campaign with Field to refute the latter's claim of the effects of high protection.

Mrs. Bryan, after the birth of her first child, took up and completed the course of study necessary for admission to the bar, and she was admitted. She did this in order to keep up with her husband and not from any desire to practice law.

In personal appearance Bryan, as his friends say, looks as the late Samuel Knapp did when of his age. He Bath Iron Works, and a number of other commercial enterprises. Although he has for years employed large numbers of men, he has never had any serious labor trouble.

Mr. Sewall was married in 1850 to Miss Emma D. Crooker, of Bath; he has two children living, both of them sons, Harold M. and William D. Sewall, by name.

Mr. Sewall has not as yet determined when he will return home. He expects to remain in Chicago for several days, however.

Religious.

Elder J. W. McGarvey, of Lexington, will begin a protracted meeting at Bethlehem Church, near Thomson Station, Clark county, on Sunday next, July 19. He will be assisted in the meeting by Elder A. W. Koken-dorfer, of Kansas City, Mo. The public is cordially invited to attend. Services, 10 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. each day.

Senator Hill Will Support the Ticket.

A special from New York to the Cincinnati Enquirer says: Senator David B. Hill was heard at work to-day in Albany attempting to crack the hardest political nut that he has ever handled, although he has frequently succeeded in breaking some very hard ones.

The Senator has decided to support the ticket, but he will not indorse the entire platform adopted at the Chicago Convention.

In the statement which the Senator is preparing, and which he expects to give to the public on Wednesday, he will attempt to show a way for Eastern Democrats to vote for Bryan and Sewall, and yet oppose the Chicago platform. This problem is not yet thoroughly worked out in the Senator's own mind. Upon the currency question the Senator will fall back on the lines of his Elmira speech, but he will speak about an international bimetallic agreement in the most emphatic terms. Then he will refer to his record on the income tax. After reiterating his position upon these questions he will pay respects to McKinley and the members of the syndicate that control him. He will hold McKinley responsible for most of the distress experienced by the people of West and South.

Then McKinley and Bryan will be compared, to the great advantage of the latter. The Senator will take it for granted that New York will go for sound money any way, and therefore the party organization should be maintained, in order that sound money Democrats can be elected to Congress.

Senator Hill will hold that the currency question cannot be made a party one, but must be finally disposed of by the conservative element of each party in Congress. So, even if Bryan were elected, a good representation of sound money Democrats in Congress would be all the more necessary. By reviewing the record of the Republican party in the State and the nation the Senator will argue that the preservation of the Democratic party is necessary to the welfare of the country.

Of course, these are only the rough outlines of what Senator Hill will have to say.

Judge John S. Patton, of the Twenty-fourth Judicial District has given through the Courier-Journal a sweeping denial to State Inspector Lester's charges that he (Patton) had been drunk for a year past and had neglected his official duties. Judge Patton says he has suffered during that time of drowsy, and when able has been upon the bench filling his official duties.

TO WASH THE BLOOD.

A Simple Salt and Water Injection in Place of Transfusion.

Washing the blood is the latest remedy for diseases brought on by or a sluggish circulation and low state of blood. The washing process is performed by plain salt and water. From a pint to two quarts of water is injected into the system by means of an ordinary hypodermic syringe.

A vein is opened in the arm of the patient with the usual antiseptic preparations, and the salt water injected in large doses. A profuse perspiration and general activity of the secretory organs follow, carrying away the noxious matter present in the blood. The remedy is recommended by several doctors in papers read recently before the Academy of Medicine in Paris, and has been successfully employed in numerous instances. In cases of anemia, typhoid, hemorrhages, sudden shock, and even in cases of intoxication, this blood washing, it is said, works wonders. For some years surgeons have used a saline injection in cases of collapse after an operation. It is the most powerful tonic known, and has saved many lives. Its efficacy in ordinary diseases has, however, only recently been discovered.

Modern medicine has a tendency to resort to simple methods which recognize the all curing powers of water. Washing the stomach, as practiced by several New York physicians, is of very recent origin, and is confined invariably to cases of indigestion. A simple bath of warm water is often all that is necessary to restore the stomach to its normal condition, by removing the poisonous waste products which are not profusely thrown off by the secretory organs. By means of a soft rubber tube put down the throat water can be poured into the stomach and siphoned out again. To wash the blood is of course more difficult, as the water has to be injected into a vein.

It is well known that the blood of a frog can be drawn off and the blood of another frog substituted without greatly inconveniencing the creature. It was then found that a salt water solution can be substituted instead of blood, to a considerable extent, at least, and the frog will live and be as sprightly as ever. This fact first gave the scientists the idea of injecting an artificial serum into the veins of a human being, either anemic or intoxicated. The new remedy is very simple in its action, and can always, it is said, be employed with safety—Washington Evening Star.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of plump, hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is woman's skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it cleans and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Spoons Free to All.

I read in the Christian Standard that Miss A. M. Fritz, Station A, St. Louis, Mo., would give an elegant plated hook spoon to any one sending her ten two-cent stamps. I sent for and found it to be useful that I showed it to my friends, and made $13 in two hours, taking orders for the spoon. The hook spoon is a household necessity. It cannot slip into the dish or cooking vessel, being held in place by a hook on the back. The spoon is something housekeepers have needed ever since spoons were first invented. Any one can get a "sample spoon" by sending ten 2-cent stamps to Miss Fritz. This is a splendid way to make money around home.

Very Truly, 46-13t JEANETTE S.

All the People

Should keep themselves healthy and especial care should be given to this matter at this time. Health depends upon pure, rich blood, for when the blood is impure and impoverished diseases of various kinds are almost certain to result. The one true blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. By its power to purify and vitalize the blood it has proven itself to be the safeguard of health, and the record of remarkable cures affected proves that it has wonderful power over disease. It actually and permanently cures when all other preparations fail to do any good whatever.

A few men who think they are Democrats, but who are bolters, met in Chicago after the adjournment of National Convention and resolved to hold a Democratic Convention and to put out single standard gold man for the presidency. We would like to know how these bolters could give to themselves the name Democratic. There is but one Democratic party in these United States. It has had its convention after having been regularly called, adopting a platform and naming its candidates. It is called the Democratic Convention and has no authority to call a Democratic Convention. They would be bolters, participants would be bolters and the nominees would be bolters. There is no way for them to be a regular constituted Democratic body. We grant they can bolt and organize a new party but not a Democratic party.

The Louisville Post sometime ago a Democratic Journal has bristled up again and wants to fight. It grows at every passing object and declares itself a Democratic newspaper and every one who dares to go any other way except its way a traitor. It talks about Mr. Bryan as a "School Boy Orator," and wants to call him names and this in the face of what Congressman McCreary and other life long Democrats and great men who have been associated with him have to say. Kentucky has demonstrated that she can get along without the Post and it is not known far enough from home to do the Democratic ticket any harm. With Democrats, since the action of the National Convention and the declarations of the party, crushed theories are of the past and what all Democrats have to do is to accept the platform and the leaders and work for their success in November, and they will do it, the advice of the Post to the contrary.

Mr. Bryan a Man of Destiny.

Mr. Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President of the United States, is in line with the fixed order of things. With the cry of hard times and oppression from every source, the people, not knowing where to look for a leader, received a voice from heaven. A man, in a moment and without warning, is ushered into the highest arena of prominence and becomes the Moses of an oppressed people. He is a man of fate and will lead the hosts to victory. There is no power on earth that can stop this great movement inaugurated, as we believe, by the people under the direction of the supreme being.

Senator David B. Hill, when asked what he proposed to do about supporting the ticket, answered: "I was a Democrat before the Convention; I am a Democrat still." We commend these words of the "Gold Bug" friend.

To Your Post, Democrats.

The Democratic Convention has spoken. It has presented to the people its platform and its candidates for President and Vice President, and now asks every loyal Democrat to heartily and loyally support the ticket it has put in the field. There is nothing strange, if in presenting its platform it should enunciate a set of principles and present candidates that would fill the individual wishes of every voter in the party. Such a thing never has happened in any national campaign, and never will. We want to do now is to elect the men we have nominated. To do this only requires a getting together of the wings of the party. It has been a prominent merit of faith with us that the minority must bow to the will of the majority. That majority has now spoken and it asks no whether we belonged to the majority or were numbered with the minority our duty as good Democrats is now plain to admit of question. The lines of battle are drawn and every true Democrat will be found trying to aid his party to secure a victory in November.

So far as we are able to ascertain the deserters from the ranks of the party can, in this country, be numbered on the fingers of one hand, and it is hardly probable that even these will all go over into the Republican camp. The personnel of the ticket is splendid, and no Democrat need hesitate to support it.

To your posts, Democrats, and see to it that you do your whole duty to your party in this hour when it needs every true man to stand with it.

Never since the campaign of 1892 has there been a campaign that demanded more of the members of the Democratic party than the present one. We have just passed through an internecine conflict so fierce that it has almost the flavor of both wings of the party to fever heat. The advocates of free silver have won by a majority so decisive that the gold people were in a hopeless minority when our representatives met in national convention. The silver men have won the fight, and won it fairly. If the gold advocates had won they would have demanded the hearty support of the silver element to the ticket and would have denounced all bolters and silverers as traitors. Then it behooves every gold Democrat to show himself every whit a man, and prove to the victorious silver men he would not ask one of them to do what he will not do himself, to wit: stand true to his party. The Republican party today stands as much for all that we have called evil and vicious, as it has done any time in the last thirty-five years. Let us bear in mind that this same Republican party is responsible for the condition of affairs that has brought about this very conflict in the ranks of the Democratic party. Surely a cool and candid review of the legislation and attempted legislation of the Republican party in its years of triumph will be enough to make any Democrat recognize that he would be failing in his duty as a good citizen, if he voted with such a party on national issues.

The New York Sun has repudiated the National ticket and calls on all gold Democrats to support McKinley. It is nothing new for the Sun to kick out of the traces when either the candidate or some plank in the platform does not happen to suit its sweet pleasure. Because Mr. Cleveland was not personally agreeable to the Sun it fought him with a violence that it has not shown to any other candidate. A Candidate No More.

When Mr. Bryan was notified of his nomination he at once declared the following note to the country:

"To the American People: I order that I may have no ambition but to discharge faithfully the duties of office I desire to announce that if elected President, I shall under no circumstances be a candidate for re-election."

BASE BALL.

The Paris base-ball club played two games with the home team here last Thursday and Friday afternoon, and the visitors won both contests.

Of course we all know that baseball is sometimes as capricious and whimsical as the wind of a spoiled coquette; it is the ever kaleidoscopic changes (such as the Paris defeating the home team), that attend exhibitions on the diamond that have made it the national sport of the people.

Thursday's game—Paris, 11; Mt. Sterling, 4. Friday's game—Paris, 7; Mt. Sterling, 0.

Wood, for the home team, pitched a winning game, but at several points our boys went to pieces, allowing the visitors to win the first game by unearned runs. Nugent led the batting.

Trumbo pitched Friday's game and many compliments were heard of his excellent delivery. Davis caught both games in his usual good style.

Manager Shinnar has a high-class ball team, but we think our home organization can give the semi-professional a better "tussle" than they did last week. Manager Davis works his men most every afternoon, and ere long will have them playing ball to perfection.

The home team will play the Frankforts here Thursday and Friday, this week.

Blackberries are bringing in a good many dollars to the farmers of Hopkins county. Mr. David Mullens, of the Hanson county, informs the Huster that he has already gathered and sold about $20 worth. He has done his gathering and marketing at odd times and kept his crop going at the same time. Many others are making their spare change by selling blackberries, and while they are cheap they are so plentiful that many gallons can be gathered in a short time.

Mr. J. F. Barnett killed a bird Saturday, the species of which is unknown in this part of the country, says the Fairview Review. It was pure, snowy white, with a yellow tinge on the back. The long, sharp bill was nearly six inches in length and its color a rich golden orange, darkening into black at the tip. The legs were twenty inches long and black; the eye was a pale orange. It measured from tip of tip of its wings five feet; when standing erect was four and a half feet high; from end of bill to where the neck entered the body it measured sixteen inches.

PARSON PENROD

MAY MOUNT THE GALLOWS.

Famous Kentucky Exhorter is in Serious Trouble This Time.

Tells How Much He Drank Before He Cut Carver's Throat.

Vaneburg, Ky., July 8.—Rev. Lemuel Penrod, who has just been remanded to jail by Judge Fisher, in default of bond, for the cutting of William Carver's throat last Saturday, was visited in his cell by a Times correspondent. It will be remembered that Rev. Penrod narrowly escaped the penitentiary last year for shooting a church member, Deacon John Slate, through the right leg. He and Slate engaged in a heated argument over the necessity and efficacy of pedobaptism. Rev. Penrod claimed that if infants were not baptized they would run mighty close to the brink of the eternal fire, if they did not fall in. Deacon Slate said such a proposition as that "had no sense in it"; that it was not based by reason, but was cruel, inhuman, diabolical.

Rev. Penrod at this drew a revolver and told Slate to choose between restraint and bullets. Slate was stubborn and refused to heed the holy man's commands. Thereupon the reverend gentleman let him "have it" in the shin.

Rev. Penrod then quietly took the revolver back in his belt, mounted his horse and rode to the church house where he preached a soul-lifting sermon that ten persons dropped the burden of their sins and shouted forth the joys of a new life.

The next day in Laurel creek, five miles south of Vaneburg, Rev. Penrod baptized seventeen converts. As he was getting out of the water after the last one had been immersed the Sheriff took charge of the holy man and brought him, under strong protest, to the Vaneburg jail. At his trial last September the Judge and all the lawyers took a humorous view of the case, and let the person down very easy.

Now, however, he is in a bad box. The public feeling is clamorous against him. The young man whom he cut just Saturday is well beloved by all who know him. He has a wife and several small children.

"What excuse have you to offer for cutting this young man's throat?" asked a correspondent of Penrod.

"None, only I was drunk."

"Drunk! An elder drunk?"

"Whisky, cider and beer will make an elder drunk if put into his stomach just the same as it would a slaver like you."

"How much did you drink?"

"Not much. Just a little."

"Well, about how much?"

"Well, I drank four glasses of hard cider at John Carrington's to begin on."

"Well?"

"Then four glasses of beer at the St. Charles Hotel."

"Well?"

"Then helped Bob Carter drink a half pint of whisky."

"Well?"

"Then drank four glasses more of beer at the Carter Hotel."

"Well?"

"Then drank two glasses of whisky at the Stricklet Hotel."

"Well?"

"Then helped drink several growlers."

"Well?"

"Well, you don't expect me to go any further, do you? I lost count there, and the Lord only knows how much I drank, I don't."

"Will you stop preaching now?" asked the correspondent.

"No, indeed. The jail has several prisoners in here that need the blessings of divine grace. I shall wrestle with them and attempt as best I can to lead them to the fountain of everlasting love. I shall pray in here every morning and evening as is my habit."

"Do you fear that you will be hung or go to the penitentiary?"

"I fear nothing. My case is in a higher court than that of this world. I learn on the arm of my blessed Master. He will guide my destiny. I rest on him."

Young Carver is much worse, and is feared will not live. In that case the celebrated preacher can hardly avoid hanging for a wanton murderer.—Louisville Times.

Plenty of Room and Feed.

In commencing to feed a lot of young pigs, it is comparatively easy to get into the habit of giving a certain quantity at every meal, and of feeding in the same trough, without taking into consideration the fact that the pigs should be given more room and more feed.

When desiring to push the growth as much as possible, there is only one safe rule in feeding, and that is to give them all they will eat up clean, at each meal, and have enough room enough so that each one can secure a full share without being obliged to fight for it.

If this is done, it will be necessary to gradually increase the ration of the pigs as they grow. It will be well enough to arrange plenty of trough room at the start by allowing at least one foot in length of trough for each pig that is expected to eat. The best way of feeding the right quantity is to watch them eat, and feed more if needed. The fact is that the man who makes the best success in feeding pigs must like to stand and watch them eat. The man who makes it a rule to throw in a certain quantity of grain on the feeding floor, and to pour a certain quantity of slop into the trough, and then walks off, and gives the pigs no further attention until the next time to feed, will never make raising pigs as profitable as the one who takes sufficient interest to watch them eat, and is willing, if they eat up readily what has been given them, to give them a little more.

When grain and slop is being fed, always give them the slop first. But in all feeding be sure that they have what they will eat up clean, and in a way that each animal will be able to readily receive its full share.—Journal of Agriculture.

Feeding Experiment.

A correspondent of Hog and Corn Journal says: The litter of six pigs that weighed 366 pounds at 100 days old now weigh 560 pounds, an average gain of thirty-two pounds each for the thirty days. There are forty-two pigs feeding together, other litters are doing as well. They run in a woods pasture, are fed three times a day on slop made of equal parts (by measure) of corn, meal, bran and shorts, mixed with water, one feed before using. They are making pork at a cost of about two cents per pound, not counting the grass. The growth of my pigs this season averaged about as follows: At one day old, three or four and a half pounds each; at one month, eighteen pounds; three months, sixty pounds; four months, ninety pounds. We expect a little better than one pound a day after the four months period. We will weigh again in thirty days and give weight and cost of feed if you want it. Even at the low price of hogs there is a profit in feeding a good class of porkers. The mixed feed I am using costs sixty cents per hundred.

Ice Cream Made in a Minute.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream perfectly in one minute; as it is such a wonder a crowd will always be around, so any one can make from five to six dollars a day selling cream, and from ten to twenty dollars a day selling Freezers, as people will always buy an article when it is demonstrated that they can make money by so doing. The cream is frozen instantly and is smooth and free from lumps. I have done so well myself and have friends succeeding so well that I felt it my duty to let others know of this opportunity. As I feel confident that any person in any locality can make money, as any person can sell cream and the Freezer sells itself. J. F. Casey & Co., 1145 St. Charles Street, St. Louis, Mo., will sell you complete instructions and will employ you on salary if you give them your whole time. GEO. B.

VAST REGIONS

YET TO BE EXPLORED.

Nothing Known of 20,000,000 Square Miles of the Earth's Surface.

SOME SURPRISING FIGURES.

We are apt to think that we moderns have very little to do in the way of exploring the globe, and that the recent explorations in Africa have quite put the finishing touch to geographical knowledge, so that he who wishes to set foot on virgin soil must sigh, like Alexander, for another world. Those who entertain such opinions may calm themselves with the thought that no less a portion of the earth's surface than 20,000,000 square miles is yet a fit subject for investigation and on a large part of this the foot of civilized man has not yet trod. The Literary Digest translates from Cosmos (Paris June 6) an article that brings the fact out very clearly. It runs as follows:

"At the London Geographical Congress Mr. Logan Louley gave a very interesting study of the present state of exploration of the globe. It appears that modern geographers have an immense amount of labor before them to make us acquainted with all parts of the earth. This conclusion will astonish some people, for there is a general impression that almost all regions of the earth are well explored."

"Mr. Louley reminds us that in the first place, toward the middle of the sixteenth century, all seas had been traversed by navigators, and if the maps of the continents were not very exact, at least their relative positions and their general configuration were known. Australia still appears on a French map of 1542, under the name of Great Java. In the course of the sixteenth century in the last decade of the fifteenth century and the first half of the sixteenth, a plaid of navigators had advanced geographic knowledge in a degree that has never been reached in any other period so short. Sebastian d'Elcano had made his first voyage around the world; Vasco de Gama had doubled the Cape of Good Hope; Christopher Columbus had added the two Americas to the map; the voyages of Cabot, of Magellan had completed this wonderful list of new discoveries."

"After the Arctic and the polar regions we must confess that all the seas have been explored, but this is far from being the case with the land. An immense extent is entirely unknown to us; another still more considerable has been only imperfectly explored; travelers have traversed it, commerce has exploited some of its products, but good maps of it do not exist. Finally only the least part is well known; Geography has covered it with a network of triangles and the maps of it are complete even from a topographical standpoint."

"After the Arctic and Antarctic regions, which have remained inaccessible up to the present time, Africa is the part of the world that is least known to us, notwithstanding the admirable explorations made in this century, which are daily clearing up the map. The earliest explorers, however, could not dream of serious efforts, and many years will pass before the country will be free from the general gray that, even when its black patches have disappeared."

"After Africa, Australia offers the vastest field to the investigations of explorers; we must remember that even its sea coast was not fully explored till 1843. Since that time at the price of great suffering, it has been crossed from south to north, but no traveler has yet traversed it from east to west."

"In the two Americas, except the extreme northern and southern parts, the continent is known; nevertheless the whole central region of South America, though in great part explored for commercial purposes (for mines, wood, caoutchouc, etc.) is not exactly mapped."

"To sum up, the yet unexplored parts of the globe cover an area of about 50,000,000 square kilometers (about 20,000,000 square miles), approximately divided thus:

Africa.....	6,500,000
Australia.....	2,000,000
America.....	3,000,000

Don't neglect the stock to whom it up for a candidate who favors policies that reduce the price of stock.

It is very unfortunate to be overstocked with any kind of animal, especially those of poor quality.

A stock man says: When grade is bred to grade, the result is degeneracy. The offspring tends to fall back to the scrub ancestry instead of the improved. In crossing improved breeds with common ones, use a pure bred sire, with a scrub or grade dam of the best quality you can get.

A man sixty-five years old in Mercer county was granted license last week to marry, says the Lancaster Record. Now there is nothing remarkable about this simple statement but this man becomes a peculiarly interesting individual when it is further stated that it is the sixth time that he has taken upon himself the matrimonial yoke. But this is not all. He is reported to be the fond papa of just forty-three children, all living.

About Skilleville and Rochester and along Green and Muddy rivers for many miles, in Ohio, Butler, Logan and Mullensburg counties, hundreds of hogs dying daily of a strange disease. Last year the same disease ravaged the swine in a few neighborhoods along Green River, and the losses to farmers in that section amount into the thousands. No veterinarian has investigated the disease, and doubtless the National Agricultural Department has never been apprised of the existence of the contagion.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. L. B. Heflin bought a lot of Oxford ewes and lambs from Marion Rubank, of Clark county, last week at $3 per head. He now has a surplus of buck lambs that he would exchange for some good grade ewes or would dispose of at a reasonable price. They are pure bred and very fine stock.

The schools in this neighborhood will be taught this fall by the following teachers: The Arkle school, Miss Mamie Kidd; the Waterville school, Jas. Richardson; the Good school near Clay City, John Wilburn; the Snow Creek school, which has about 85 pupils, W. E. Heflin; the Black Creek school, Herbert Heflin; the Sprine Creek school, Harlan Knoke.

Pasturing High-Priced Land.

In answer to the question, "Will it pay to pasture cattle on land worth $75 an acre, and what is the profitable age to feed steers?" C. P. Goodrich in Prairie Farmer said: One can do much better with good tillable land worth $75 an acre than to pasture it. Three times as much stock can be fed from a given area by selling than by pasturing. Now, as to the best age to feed steers. There is a principle in relation to the feeding and growth of animals that has been well established by the record of our fat stock shows and by hundreds of careful records made by experiment station and intelligent feeders all over the country, and that is: The older the animal is the more food is required to put on a given grain in weight. And another thing: The more rapidly an animal is made to gain in weight the less food it takes to make a pound of gain. This is because it takes a certain amount of food to sustain life, and this food of support bears a similar ratio to the whole food consumed when the animal is made to gain rapidly. If only enough food is given to just make the animal hold its own then this food is entirely thrown away or worse. Now these principles being true it follows that to get the most profit out of making beef, the steer should be crowded every day of his life and made into beef as young as possible. There is most profit in "baby beef"—steers that have been pushed as rapidly as possible and made a weight of 1,000 pounds by the time they are fourteen or fifteen months old. This is what some of the best feeders are doing.

Dr. Bender makes his second trip to this city July 20th, remaining one week, he gave universal satisfaction his first trip, and guarantees all work done by him.

Mr. John Corbett, who has the contract for grading Sycamore street North from the C. & O. railroad and South from Holt street to Winn street, will, with favorable weather, complete his work this week and have it ready for the stone.

Goodwin's High School for boys and young men will open its 9th annual session on Sept. 2nd. This is one of the best schools in the State and prepares young men for any of our Colleges or Universities or gives them a practical business education. Parents or guardians should consult the principal, M. J. Goodwin, A. M., before placing their boys for the coming year.

Albin Luskay White, the two-year-old son of Mr. William White, died on last Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock of inflammation of the stomach and bowels, after an illness of only a few days. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Everett Gill, of the Baptist Church, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burial in Macpherson Cemetery.

Rev. Fred D. Hale, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church at Owensboro, has gone out of the church and carried quite a number of the membership with him and will establish another Baptist church in that city. The cause of the trouble was that a number of whisky loving members of the church became offended at Rev. Hale on account of his strong position against whisky and whisky dealers.

In this issue appears an advertisement of the Mt. Sterling Collegiate School. This school with Miss Helen O. Chenault, principal, will begin its second session the 1st Monday in September. The Mt. Sterling Collegiate School is an established institution and is one of the best in the State. Parents should consider the claims of this institution before placing their girls. Miss Chenault is a fine teacher and has a fine influence over young girls. The music department will be under charge of Mrs. Allie Gentry, one of the finest and most successful teachers. Prospects are very flattering for a full school.

Death of J. Verdeman Kemper.

Mr. J. Verdeman Kemper, aged 85, died of general debility at Sturgeon, Mo., on Wednesday last.

Mr. Kemper was born and raised in this county and here grew to manhood and gave the strength of his mature years to work among this people. He was a good citizen, an honest man and a good neighbor, who performed all the duties of life as he saw them with a strict fidelity. About the year 1830 he joined the Christian Church under the preaching of that wonderful preacher, John Smith, and till his death he never wavered in his fidelity to the cause of his Master. Some ten years ago Mr. Kemper and his wife moved to Sturgeon, Mo., to find a home in their declining years, four out of their five children living there. Mr. Kemper died in 1893, and left her aged and devoted husband to walk alone till he should be permitted to "cross over the river" and join her on the other side. Of the six children born to Mr. and Mrs. Kemper, five are living—Medames Mildred Hazlerig, Emma Coons and Mollie Hulen and Mr. Jacob Kemper live in Missouri, and Mr. G. W. Kemper, who still lives at the old home-place on Spencer in this county.

A travelling showman concluded to fill up on moon whisky Sunday and give some colic doves from one of the dives in the city an outing. He and a couple of companions took the showman's team and wagon and started out with the women. At the Spencer turnpike gate they represented they were going but a short distance, and after paying the rate for the distance named, used some very abusive and insulting language to Mrs. Welch. The party went much farther than they had represented. Mrs. Welch finding this out had two of the men arrested, and Judge O'Leary assessed a fine of $10 and costs against one of them. The fellow was trying to put his team in line for enough money to pay his due, but failing in this had to go to jail.

Lacy, the bright little daughter of Marion B. and Elizabeth Hadden, died at the home of her parents near Grassy Lick, Sunday morning, from flux, aged 12 years. She had been a great sufferer for twelve days but endured the suffering without a murmur. In the home, the school room, everywhere, was a sweet character, loved by every one. She will be missed. The sweet-spirited, always for the happiness of others, dulcified the work God intended and then she was taken. May He who never forgets His children use this heavy sorrow for his glory, and may those of her friends emulate her example in all that was good, holy and pure.

There are numbers of prominent and influential papers heretofore reliably Democratic, that will not support the national ticket and platform as presented by the Chicago Convention. For all this the ticket will win. The movement has been characterized as a revolution, and the indications now are that it will sweep the country from "cease to cease."

We have just received FIFTY more of those OLD KENTUCKY TOW-LINEN SUITS. They are the coolest things in the market for warm weather wear. The ladies are now using the Tow-linen for dresses and waists, which ought to vouch for their stylish qualities. Call and see them. The price is low.

Only $5.00.

They are the home-spun—not the machine-knit—and owing to the scarcity of the cloth, this is positively the last lot we will have this season.

The Gold Party.

About the third party movement the New York Sun of Sunday says: "But little sentiment has developed among the gold delegates since the nomination of Bryan in favor of calling another National Convention to nominate a sound money Democratic ticket. Indeed, what sentiment there was a few days ago seems to be on the wane rather than on the increase. The feeling in favor of a third ticket reached its climax on Tuesday night last before even the platform had been adopted. At the conference of gold men held at that time the representatives of many States favored that course, and the result of the meeting was the adoption of resolution calling for the appointment of a committee, to consist of one man from each State, whose duty was to be to test the sentiment in the several States in favor of a third ticket and to report to Senator George Gray, Chairman of the conference, as soon as possible after the Popular Convention in St. Louis. This committee has not yet been appointed, and Senator Gray went home yesterday without taking any action in the premises."

Urey Woodson, editor of the Owensboro Messenger, Henry Summers, of the Elizabethtown News, and others, at an early date, will start a Democratic daily in the city of Louisville, which will have a silver lining. Two gentlemen named are able writers who will give the people an ably edited journal.

After swallowing the poison she changed her mind and summoned Dr. W. R. Thompson and C. B. Dueston, who arrived barely in time to save her. She gave no reason for the rash act.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3270 hhds. with receipts for the same period 3945 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 97,461 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 93,157 hhds.
There was considerable falling off in receipts and sales on our market this week and the chief characteristic of the market for the week for burley tobacco has been an unusual irregularity in prices which can only be viewed as a symptom of a weaker market. We find it necessary to lower quotations on some grades.
The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop.
Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco) $1.00 to $1.50.
Common colory trash, $2.00 to $3.50.
Medium to good colory trash, $3.50 to $5.00.
Common lugs, not colory, $2.00 to $3.00.
Common colory lugs, $4.00 to $6.00.
Medium to good colory lugs, $6.00 to $8.00.
Common to medium leaf $5.00 to $7.00.
Medium to good leaf, $7.00 to $12.
Good to fine leaf, $12 to $15.
Select wrappry leaf, $15 to $18.00.
The above quotations are not pleable to green and frosted crops.

A Good Crop of Dues.

Mr. John F. Bayne finished delivering his wheat on Tuesday. He had 70 acres and it averaged 26 bushels per acre. Part of it was old corn ground and this sent the average down very much. The best of the land produced 35 bushels. He sold to Laudman & Henderson for 52 1/2 cts per bushel, Lexington Gazette.
